

This piece reflects the promise of Psalm 23:6, that God's goodness and faithfulness will accompany us every day of our lives. The circles from each previous week draw us inward and guide us toward the doorway at the center. This is the embrace of God that goes before and behind us, hemming us in along every step of our journey. May these images be a reminder that as we move through the rhythms of our days, we do so held by Love, surrounded by grace we cannot outrun. As you sit with this final verse and image, may you feel assured that you dwell in God's heart, now, and forever.
